SCHOOL OF DENTISTRY

J. Ben Robinson, D.D.S., Sc.D., F.A.C.D.

Since his graduation in 1914 from the University of Maryland School of Dentistry, DR. J. BEN ROBINSON has been an increasingly valuable source of strength and inspiration to the profession. As the Dean of the School from 1924 to the present, he has established and maintained high standards of education and professional service in the world's first dental school.

For many years, DR. ROBINSON has been one of the most outstanding leaders in American dentistry. As a prolific writer, orator, and policy-maker, the Dean has been a stimulating and courageous figure to the students who have passed through the portals of the B.C.D.S.

It was a monumental tribute to the leadership of this great man that in June of 1950 the dentists of the State of Maryland named DR. ROBINSON dentist of the half-century (1900-1950) for the State of Maryland.

To you, DR. ROBINSON, the alumni and students express their inestimable gratitude for a "good job, well done."

Silver Anniversary

In 1949 the members of the graduating class, desiring to honor those members of the Faculty and Staff who had given loyal service to the School for twenty-five years or more, decided to establish a Silver Anniversary section in the MIRROR. The editions of 1949, 1950, and 1951 congratulated and extended the gratitude of the students and alumni to fourteen men and women who have achieved membership in the Silver Anniversary group.

The 1949 issue of the MIRROR, which inaugurated the feature, paid tribute to Myron S. Aisenberg '22, Professor of Pathology, who has been associated with the faculty since his graduation; Grayson W. Gaver '22, Professor of Dental Prosthesis, who began his teaching career at his alma mater in October of 1922; George C. Karn '23, then Associate Professor of Oral Roentgenology, who served on the faculty from 1923 until his resignation in 1949; Harry B. McCarthy '23, Director of Clinics, who has taught at the B.C.D.S. since 1923; Mary C. Reed, Accountant for the Clinics, who began her career at the School in 1924; J. Ben Robinson '14, Dean, who was honored by students and alumni in June of 1949 in commemoration of his twenty-five years of service in the deanship; Nathan B. Scherr '22, then Associate Professor of Operative Dentistry, who began teaching Pedodontia in 1924; Katharine Toomey, Administrative Assistant, who is now in her thirty-sixth year of valiant and highly valuable service to the School; and B. Sargent Wells '14, then Assistant Professor of Fixed Partial Prosthesis, who taught from 1915 until his resignation in 1951.

Three twenty-five year men were honored by the 1950 MIRROR: Karl F. Grempler '24, then Instructor in Orthodontics, who taught from 1924 till shortly before his death on February 25, 1951; Guy P. Thompson, Associate Professor of Anatomy, who came to the University in 1925 as Assistant Professor of Zoology; and E. Gaston Vanden Bosche, Professor of Biochemistry, who became a member of the faculty in 1925.

The 1951 MIRROR honored two members of the Staff of the School: Charles Leroy Deets, Preparator in the Anatomy Department; and Joseph F. Killian, Laboratory Technician.

At the annual Class Day Exercises, it has been the custom of the graduating class to present each member of the Twenty-Five Year Group with a copy of the MIRROR.

The MIRROR of 1952 wishes to congratulate the former and present members of this Silver Anniversary Group who have unselfishly and valiantly dedicated their lives to dental education.

ADALBERT VOLCK, DENTIST AND ARTIST

(This is the first in a series of articles about distinguished graduates of the School.)

In studying the history of the dental profession in the United States one is impressed by the versatility exhibited by the large number of dentists who have matched or excelled their professional work by their accomplishments outside the dental office.

Ranking high among those few dentists who have achieved fame both in and out of their profession is ADALBERT J. VOLCK who earned national recognition as a dentist and as an artist.

Volck was born in Augsburg, Bavaria, on April 14, 1828, the son of Andrew Von Volzsck, a prominent and prosperous manufacturing chemist and landowner. Most of his youth was spent in Nuremberg, where he attended the Polytechnic Institute. During these formative years he became interested in art; this interest was developed and sustained by visits to the studios of many of the famous artists residing in Nuremberg and by summer residence in art colonies in the nearby mountains. When his family moved to Munich, Adalbert entered the University of Munich, where he majored in chemistry.

Volck journeyed to America in 1848 and eventually became associated with Dr. Nathan C. Keep, who was interested in the young German's abilities in chemistry. While working with Dr. Keep, Volck attended Harvard University and engaged in experiments in the coloring of porcelains.

The turning point of Volck's career came when Dr. Chapin A. Harris offered him attractive inducements to come to Baltimore. At the B.C.D.S. Volck assisted Dr. Harris in chemistry and completed his requirements for the D.D.S. degree.

Volck's training in chemistry and his experimental work with porcelain had an important bearing on the development of his professional reputation. A fine technician, he was a pioneer in the use of porcelain in the filling of teeth. In the field of dental anatomy Volck, collaborating with Christopher Johnson, did some excellent work in the microscopy of dental tissues. In the field of metallurgy he made an important contribution to his profession by conducting a series of assays on the gold foils supplied to dentists by the manufacturers.

True to his high professional ideals, Volck gave staunch support to both the spirit and the force of organized dentistry. A founding member of the Association of Dental Surgeons, he was one of its most active supporters throughout his professional career. He was a charter member of the Maryland State Dental Association, formed in 1883. Until his retirement in 1902 Volck devoted himself ceaselessly to the best interests of dentistry. He earned a national reputation not only as a highly capable practitioner but also as a valuable contributor to the great progress in the art and science of dentistry accomplished during the period of his half century of practice.

The predilection for creative art that Volck had demonstrated during his youth lay dormant for many years. His place as a prominent figure in American art was not achieved until the Civil War, when his caricatures in support of the Southern cause brought him wide recognition.

Over the years Volck developed astonishing versatility and achieved expert craftsmanship in several fields of art. In 1872 he founded the Maryland Academy of Fine Arts. Through his school he contributed much to art in Maryland. The school existed for only three years, but in those years Volck trained several of Baltimore's leading artists. The most remarkable feature about the school was that Volck served as the entire faculty, giving capable instruction, based upon his own training and experience, in oils and water colors, modeling, etching, and repousse work in copper and silver.

Among the best known works of Volck are "The Elaine Shield," a bronze shield depicting characters from the King Arthur mythology; "The Silver Tankard," the motif of which is the German legend of Siegfried and Brunhilde; "The Shield to Confederate Women," executed in silver "to record the bravery and the patient endurance, the pluck of the finest women in the world." Volck also did some exquisite work in the media of ivory and porcelain.

Class History

It was a rather unique feeling we experienced when we donned our clinic gowns for the first time this past fall. The collars now fitted snugly around our necks and the Midas touch of time seemed to have etched an extra glitter into the yellow threads of our embroidered names. It was great to be a senior!

But we were soon to learn that our gasconade was soluble in gas. Senior requirements dwarfed the junior quotas as a megakaryocyte would a chylomicron[1]. However, we diligently set our noses and stone models to the grindstone and flipped the switch.

The American Dental Association convention in Washington, held in October, was one of the highlights of the year. But some iconoclastic demonstrators left many of us puzzled. The man who told us that there was no need to incorporate the compensating curve into our dentures would have had better luck in trying to convince a four-year-old that there is no Santa Claus. Those who attended the convention

JOSEPH C. BIDDIX, JR., D.D.S.
Honorary Class President

The MIRROR extends congratulations to DR. JOSEPH C. BIDDIX, JR., upon his election as Honorary President of the Class of 1952. Dr. Biddix was graduated from the B.C.D.S. in 1934 and is now Professor of Oral Diagnosis.

returned to school feeling that (1) they knew a little more about technical procedures, and (2) they would soon be receiving toothbrushes through the mail.

As the year progressed, more and more of our members succumbed to the siren lure of the wedding march. Bachelors became as scarce as hen's teeth[2] and cigar bands became as prevalent as wedding bands.

This was a year of firsts. Freshmen no longer carved ivorine teeth; the unwritten law of "bumping" became a written one; Dr. Gaver and Dr. Nuttall no longer had their office in the center of a thoroughfare; Prosthetics now had fluorescent lighting; and a new public address system was installed.

Our individual plans for the future are varied. Some will return to their native states and countries to establish practices. Others will accept dental internships. It is likely that many will go into the service. But whatever our courses of action, each of us looks forward to the ensuing years with an earnest desire always to be a credit to our School and to our profession.

Dental Insignia

The official dental insignia employs as its central figure, the single serpent of Aesculapius, the father of medicine—not the two serpents of Hermes—which have been erroneously used in the past.

The serpent is entwined about an ancient Arabian cautery. The Greek letter Δ (delta), for dentistry, and the Greek letter ο (omicron), for odont (tooth), form the periphery of the design.

In the background are 32 leaves and 20 berries, significant of the two sets of teeth.

Class History

The Junior Class returned to school this year with a premonition that things would be quite different from the past two years. Our qualms were not entirely unjustified. Through associations with our more advanced colleagues we have verified most of the information which they so freely placed at our disposal.

For the benefit of future classes a few choice "pearls of wisdom" should be mentioned for their consideration: patients are human beings who transpose their circulatory and nervous systems to the oral cavity at the time of their appointments; instructors have x-ray vision; the ideal cavity preparation is found only in books; pulp chambers have an affinity for revolving burs; inlays do not possess sufficient thermal expansion to compensate for shy margins; and salivary calculus is not a branch of mathematics.

The future of the dental profession depends upon the knowledge and abilities which we acquire at school and their application in our future practice. The quality or standing of the profession in the eyes of laymen is based upon the quality of the men who comprise the profession. Each of us will strive to place dentistry foremost in our thinking and to preserve the health and happiness of those who entrust themselves to our care.

Class History

Last June the haggard and worn members of a once virile group completed the last exam of the freshman year. The end of tension, an almost indescribable feeling of exhilaration.

Forgotten was the shaft of the femur, the cusp of Carabelli, the monodon monoceros, and the milk bottles, redwood trees and bulls' horns carved in Tooth Morphology.

To further describe the spirit of the occasion, of 50 students questioned, all defiantly and emphatically refused to acknowledge the existence of elastic memory.

The happy throng poured into the hall and out into the street where they disbanded with the cries of their instructors echoing in the distance.

Enthusiasm was at a very high titer as we began the Sophomore year but . . . "Where are you from, son?," "This is not Dental Materials," "Did you get any stain on the slide?," "I'm afraid you'll have to get another tooth."

The news of the early isolation in pure culture of the Staphylococcus in bacteriology was hailed with shouts of displeasure. However, it did hasten our development of a sense of asepsis, a sense so vitally needed by all good dentists.

The completion of the freshman year marked a milestone on the road to the ultimate of our endeavor. We continue the study of dentistry with increasing interest. As we become more familiar with theoretical and practical dentistry, it looms larger in our minds as a very great profession. We humbly reaffirm our desire and intention to become a part of it.

Class History

It was on Monday, September 10, 1951, when one female and one hundred and nine male freshmen, all looking rather pale and registration worn, were initiated into the dental curriculum by Doctors Hahn, McCrea, Ramsey, and Vanden Bosche. The class was a conglomeration of states of mind and states of the Forty-eight, from Maine to Puerto Rico and New Jersey to Hawaii. But, no matter how diverse our backgrounds, everyone shared expectations of four years of purposeful studying and learning in preparation for the task of maintaining the health and happiness of mankind, through dentistry.

We drifted gradually through September and into October's routine of lectures, labs, and homework schedules. At this point we found ourselves floating in wax cubes on a sea of stratified epithelium, buffer solutions, and cadaver preservative. Suddenly came the realization that we were in Dental School.

As the weeks progressed, our free Thursday and Friday afternoons were characterized by four pilgrimages: the first consisted of stair-weary freshmen treking to the sixth floor histology lab; a second group could be found scurrying to anatomy lab carrying dissecting kits, Cunningham and air-wick; another to the biochemistry department where freshmen could be found scanning the horizon for the LaMotte "pH" weather vane; the fourth group, in dental materials, tried to melt wax, keep plaster out of their lunches, and take an impression with tray compound of the fingers on their left hand—all at the same time.

Regardless of the arduous tasks which confronted us during the first year, the freshmen emerged from their introduction to Dentistry proud of their accomplishments, and anxious to commence the Sophomore year.

We shall carry with us throughout our years at B.C.D.S., and into the realm of our practices, the essence of Dean J. Ben Robinson's welcoming address: "We are select; we are able; we are confident; we shall uphold the traditions and standards of the B.C.D.S. and the Dental Profession."

Scholarship is the prerequisite for admission to Gorgas Odontological Society. If the student attains a grade point average of 2.90, he is eligible to become a member. Only thirty per cent of the Junior Class, however, may be allowed to join the Society.

The Gorgas Odontological Society was founded in 1916 to honor the memory of Dr. Ferdinand J. S. Gorgas. Dr. Gorgas was an outstanding member in the dental profession who was graduated from the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery in 1855 and took his medical degree in 1863. Dr. Gorgas was dean of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery from 1865 to 1882. In that year he was appointed dean of the University of Maryland Dental Department, a position he held until his retirement in 1911. The entire dental profession mourned his death in 1914.

There are regular monthly meetings of the Society, which include a short business session and an informative program. The last program of the year is devoted to the presentation by their authors of five outstanding senior theses.

The Gorgas Odontological Society has its social aspects also. Its most noteworthy function is the Annual Spring Dance when the seniors receive their certificates of membership, while the juniors receive their keys.

Membership in the Society is an achievement to be sought after by all students of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery.

The Interfraternity Council coordinates the fraternity activities and supervises the conduct of the fraternities, especially in regard to the rushing and pledging of new students. The Council is empowered with the authority to take specific action in cases of violations of its regulations.

Early records indicate that an interfraternity organization existed in 1924. The present Council, however, is governed by the principles and procedures established in February, 1944.

The Council sponsors various sports activities and an annual interfraterniy function.

With the war in Korea, and the possibility of an all-out war with the communist powers of the world, it is only right that each American do his part in seeing that the United States is well prepared to protect its freedom.

To insure an adequate number of dentists trained for military duty, the University of Maryland Dental School has adopted the Reserve Officers Training Corps program. This program includes classroom training and summer camp at army base hospitals.

The classroom work consists of numerous lectures which are supplemented with motion pictures, slides, and demonstrations. The officer in charge of this program is Lieutenant Colonel John L. Campbell who was promoted from the grade of major in July of 1951 because of his specialty in oral surgery and his general qualifications for the rank.

Colonel Campbell is assisted by Master Sergeant Leo Hirsch who has been with the University of Maryland R.O.T.C. program since its inception in September, 1948. Sergeant Hirsch has been a constant aid to the students in the classrooms and has always been willing to clarify any individual military problem which might present itself.

The latest addition to the R.O.T.C. personnel is Master Sergeant Adrian Lee McQuistion whose home town is Mingo, Ohio. Sergeant McQuisition attended the College of Steubenville after graduation from Mingo Junction High School. He then joined the Army Engineer Corps and spent twenty months in the South Pacific. Sergeant McQuistion became an administrative assistant here in September, 1951, and is now largely responsible for the R.O.T.C. records and files.

The hospital training program was attended for six weeks in the summer of 1951 by all members entering the second year of advanced R.O.T.C. training. These men were able to observe the army methods of dentistry and were orientated into the general routine of army life as would be experienced by an army dental officer. The students were sent to one of five hospitals in various parts of the country. Fifteen men were sent to the Brook Army Medical Center at San Antonio, Texas. These included Carlough, Garten, Inscoe, Kiser, Macaulay, F. Martin, W. McFarland, Miller, Poling, Price, Walker, Willetts, Barry, Allen, and M. Bell. The Walter Reed Hospital was host to Bevan, Dooley, Fetchero, Hendrickson, Lincicome, J. Martin, P. McFarland, McKechnie, Orrahood, Saxe, Simonson, Swalec, Synowski, Wakai, and Winter. The Fort Benning Station Hospital in Georgia was visited by Vassar and Kornegay. Averill, Morley, Nicholson, Rodriguez, Stinson, and Valentin went to Percy Jones Army Hospital in Michigan. The Fort Bragg Station Hospital in North Carolina was visited by O'Leary, Messer, Roberts, Burkett, Fisher, and Gilman. Eleven of these men become members of the Reserve Corps of the Air Force upon graduation, and the remainder will be in the Army Reserve Corps. Morris Bell and Earl Hendrickson became second lieutenants in the Air Force Dental Corps as of October, 1951, and have been on active duty since that date. Avant and Gilman are to be commissioned after camp in the summer of 1952.

The R.O.T.C. program has been extended since its beginning. The University of Maryland Dental School has trained numerous officers to help keep the dental health of our armed forces at an optimum.

ADDRESS TO THE TOOTHACHE

Robert Burns

My curse upon your venom'd stang,
That shoots my tortur'd gooms alang,
An' thro' my lug gies monie a twang
Wi' gnawing vengeance,
Tearing my nerves wi' bitter pang,
Like racking engines!

A' down my beard the slavers trickle,
I throw the wee stools o'er the mickle,
While round the fire the giglets keckle
To see me loup,
An', raving mad, I wish a heckle
Were i' their doup!

When fevers burn, or ague freezes,
Rheumatics gnaw, or colic squeezes,
Our neebors sympathise to ease us
Wi' pitying moan;
But thee'—thou hell o' a' diseases,
They mock our groan!

Of a' the num'rous human dools —
Ill-hairsts, daft bargains, cutty-stools,
Or worthy frien's laid i' the mools,
Sad sight to see!
The tricks o' knaves, or fash o' fools—
Thou bear'st the gree!

Whare'er that place be priests ca' Hell
Whare a' the tones o' misery yell,
An' ranked plagues their numbers tell
In dreadfu' raw,
Thou, Toothache, surely bear'st the bell
Amang them a'!

O thou grim, mischief-making chiel,
That gars the notes o' discord squeel,
Till humankind aft dance a reel
In gore a shoe-thick,
Gie a' the faes o' Scotland's weal
A towmond's toothache.

CUSPID'S LAST STAND

Your Hit Parade...

emanating from the Triangular Bar, located high above the throbbing pulp, overlooking the smo-o-o-th pulpal floor, is brought to you by BLOODY CURETTES.

Are your pockets raw and irritated? Do you have holes in your pockets? Does your tissue lack stippling? Make the BLOODY CURETTE TEST. Nine out of ten victims have proved conclusively that more hemorrhage is produced by BLOODY CURETTES than by any other leading curette. BLOODY CURETTES are longer, sharper, pointier and naturally curvier. Therefore, they're bound to be bloodier! And remember our famous slogan—BCDS—"Bloody Curettes Don't Smell!"

And now, on with your BLOODY CURETTE HIT PARADE—featuring the Bloody Matrix Band under the baton of Max Illa and starring Manny Dibular at the enamel organ.

The band, assisted by the vocal renditions of the Three Wedges, Em, Oh and Dee, now present an uninterrupted medley of the ten top tunes of the 1948-1952 era.

2. I Dreamt I Dwelt in Parallel Walls
3. Fees (with apologies to Joyce Kilmer)
4. When the Gold Comes Over the Margin
5. I'll Take You Home Again, Dentoform
6. Look for the Cement Lining
7. Buccal Down Win-socket
8. I Can't Get Started
9. Canaliculi, Canalicula
10. Carry Me Back to West Virginny

. . . and, now, Bloody Curettes presents the Number 1 song of the era—the tune that has handpieces humming all over the country . . . the Number 1 tune . . . THAT OLD BLACK MAGIC.

That Old Black Magic has me in its spell,
That Old Black's Magic that they try to sell,
Those sharp explorers up and down the walls,
That same old bevel makes those rods just fall,
That same dull feeling that I feel inside,
And then that sharp bur starts its whirling ride
And every time the motor spins
Deeper and deeper I go
Squarer and sharper I know
Like a foil plugged in a tooth.
I should stay away, but what if I try?
I would slip, and my margins'd be shy.
For you're the man that I was slated for,
The man J. Ben had men created for,
And every time the motor spins
Deeper and deeper I go
Sharper and squarer I know,
In a spin, counting the pulps I'm in,
Caught in that Old Black Magic 1-16.
That old KR has you in his cell
That old KR whom you avoid so well
That same old feeling when you raise your hand
You wait an hour while he just lets you stand
That confident arm as you vainly try
To get the tooth absolutely dry,
And every time that motor spins
Deeper and deeper you go
Sharper and squarer I know,
Like a man in 1-16.
You know those Class I pits will never be;
He'll make them all an MOD.
You'll polish foil till it blinds the eye
And then he'll say "the margin's shy."
I should stay away, but now that I'm here . . .
I saw him look—and mark his book
A book with such a difficult code
That a 120 numbers must share the load.
So if you're the one who is slated for,
That man J. Ben had men created for Deeper and deeper you'll go
Sharper and squarer I know,
Caught in that Old Black Magic 1-16.

Straight-Bored Questions

1. If the angle of the nib is 6 centigrades, and the length of the shank is 9 cm., and you are condensing a Class III foil on the distal of a cuspid, whose section are you in?
2. When preparing a 3rd molar for a ¾ crown, with a plastic window on the lingual, and your bur slips, where should you send your tonsillar specimen?
3. (Not to be answered until you have practiced dentistry over one year.) What shade have you selected for your Cadillac?
4. Describe a technic for soldering contact in the mouth.
5. What drug is most useful for exterminating Roaches with long arms?
6. Underline the correct answer:
   I have ..... restorations "checked off."
   a) an insufficient number of
   b) not enough
   c) less than (b)
   d) less than (c)
   e) I should have gone to Medical School
   f) more than Kornegay
7. When condensing a foil in the office, you should
   a) use the correct line of force
   b) read literature on Kadon
   c) see your psychiatrist
   d) none of these
8. Dentures don't fit at times because
   a) porcelain teeth have mesial drift
   b) Plastocene is poor impression material
   c) the patient says so
   d) the wrong shade was employed
9. True or False:
   Broken crowns can be mended with tooth paste.
10. Diagnose this case:
    Patient, male, age 27, of sound mind, has complained of gas pains during the past 4 years. Prior to that time, he was very contented, but upon being sent from a peaceful campus to the city, the gas pains increased in intensity. Patient says that pain disappears from June-September of each year—but symptoms return about the 2nd week in September. Tabulations, lectures and a blue motif make the pain excruciating. X-rays negative, blood tests normal.

    Diagnosis: Pain is undoubtedly of nervous origin. Therefore, as in the case of tic douloureux, the best treatment at hand is to ingest alcohol. The following prescription is suggested.

    Ginger ale Spiritus fermenti QSAD symptoms disappear
    M. et ft.
    Sig.: One-fifth q. trimester. Repeat when necessary.

Sagrog

O-don't-be-logical Society

"Education Cum Grano Salis"

In the early 1940's Dr. Woodrow W. Corder founded the first Sagrog (Sub-Gorgas) Society. His efforts, however, were thwarted and the Society became defunct.

The present organization was formed in 1951 as an honorary student society with "personality" as a basis for admission. The order was named for Dr. Adrian Van Sagrog, a pioneer in developing the technique of napping through lectures. This esteemed gentleman initiated the famous practices of arriving late to classes, cutting lectures prior to examinations, asking irrelevant questions at ten minutes of the hour, roller skating in the clinic, setting up in pedodontia with a bear-trap, breaking the sterile chain in surgery, helping fellow students condense foil by placing the annealing tray over the patient's mouth and lighting his breath, and working in Dr. Randolph's section with a pistol for playing Russian roulette.

To become eligible for admission, the student must: (1) attend all School functions, (2) have an average of not less than 86 proof after same, and (3) stand in the lower 70% of his class.

Meetings are held each week at Chick's and attendance is compulsory. Failure to attend is punishable by sending the member to two Gorgas dances.

'twas just before Announcements . . .

'Twas just before Announcements, and all through the school,
The Faculty was meeting, with expressions so cool.

The records were placed on the table with care,
In hope that the Dean soon would be there.

The Seniors were all gassed up to the brim,
As their visions of graduating depended on him.

Kay Toomey was there, with her office crew;
Mrs. Reed and Mrs. Spicer were invited too.

The clinical men, as Kenny and Dick,
Were all assembled with records so thick.

The "upstairs fellows," including Mac and Aisy,
Seemed to look as fresh as a daisy.

It was plain to see that the tension had mounted;
The records were checked, the fillings all counted.

When all at once there arose such a clatter,
And in strutted the Dean to settle the matter.

As he walked into that luxurious room,
Every Senior thought, "just to lower the boom."

Then inside the room the Dean made a scoff,
"Let's get quiet and knock this all off!"

The first thing he did was to call for the roll;
He made a few gestures, the bells started to toll.

They went down the list, each man in his turn,
And stopped at a man with foils to burn.

And Kenny winced when he heard said:
"Ten to one those pulps are all dead."

The next was a man who never had fun,
For he did most of his work from twelve until one.

On this eager beaver they did not hesitate,
What difference to them if he never ate.

The smoke became thicker, the comments more rare,
When they stopped at the man who had little hair.

Medina then said, "From the way that he toils,
It's easy to do four hundred foils."

They next came to a name which caused quite a fuss,
They started to sweat and almost did cuss.

It seemed no matter how hard he would try,
His angles were dull, his margins were shy.

But to the rescue came Charlie DeVier,
"Let's all go downtown and each have a . . . "

Next was a man who was short of alloy,
Mrs. Reed saved him: "He's such a nice boy."

Next came a lad with such cute little curls
Who liked to do inlays, but only on girls.

The consensus thought his foils too few,
Until Vandy shouted: "You must let him through!"

They arrived at a man who all through the year,
N'er opened his mouth—this may sound queer,

"Is he alive?" then asked smiley Beavan,
"I've said more in four than he in eleven."

The girl in the class drew no objections,
She owns enough sugar for a million confections.

But MacLean did announce with a few little croaks,
"I had to curtail my volume of jokes."

They then came to a man with fillings so lean,
They threw the whole case in the lap of the Dean.

"Why that man couldn't be a railroad conductor,
So we'll have to make him a part-time instructor."

The next student discussed was perpetually gassed,
Still worried over Shay's exams, which he never passed.

His savior was Joe, the "regular guy,"
Who announced to all: "Let's let him get by."

Meanwhile outside the door there came such a moan,
From the Seniors who had taken their dentoforms home.

And inside the Clinic the Juniors did smart,
For no one was there to give them a "start."

But down in the lounge the Seniors had met,
Nails were all bitten and foreheads did sweat.

But up in that room the Faculty was enjoying
The 103 lives with which they were toying.

At last they arrived at what was their goal:
They finally came to the end of the roll.

And then the Dean shouted and called them by name:
"Now, Dosh (er)! Now, Warner! Now, Gaver and Shay!
On Oster! On, Dorsey! On, Nuttall and McCrea!
To the top of the stairs, to the very second floor,
Now dash away, dash away, and get there by four."

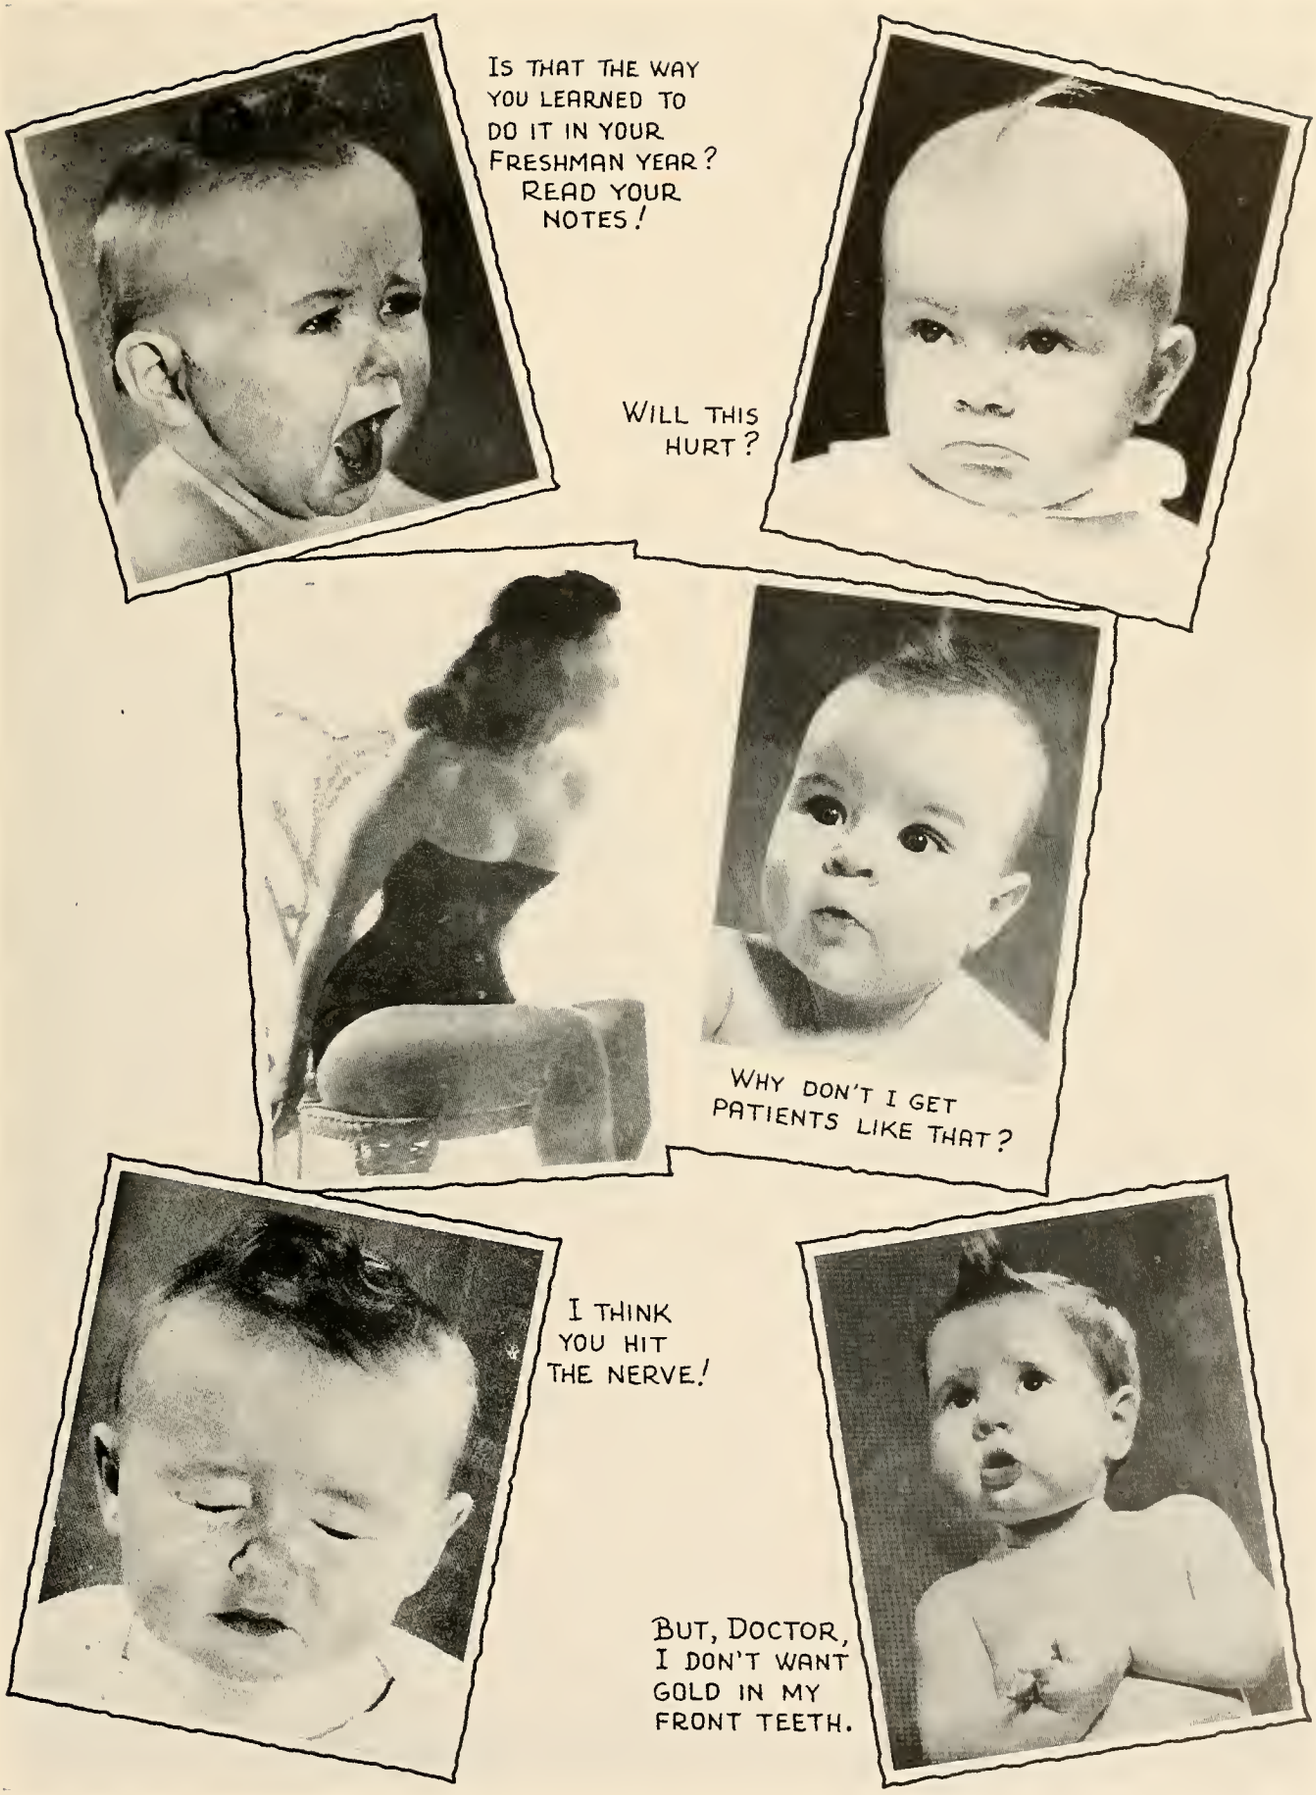
Up in Room 37 the horde was assembling,
They looked very tired and most all were trembling.

A hush came over when in with a stride
Came the Dean—103 envelopes clutched at his side.

Then invitations were extended to that fortunate few,
Who through hard work and perseverance had made OKU.

At last came the moment, and 103 in a line
Received their announcements, one at a time.

The Dean then concluded that wonderful sight
With "Congratulations to all; go out and get . . . "



IS THAT THE WAY YOU LEARNED TO DO IT IN YOUR FRESHMAN YEAR? READ YOUR NOTES!
WILL THIS HURT?
WHY DON'T I GET PATIENTS LIKE THAT?
I THINK YOU HIT THE NERVE!
BUT, DOCTOR, I DON'T WANT GOLD IN MY FRONT TEETH.

ATTENTION--ALL JUNIORS AND SENIORS

IN THE EVENT OF AN ATOMIC ATTACK, OR ANY OTHER SUCH EMERGENCY, THE FOLLOWING PROCEDURE OF EVACUATION IS TO BE CARRIED OUT BY EACH STUDENT:

1. Shoulder all engine arms.
2. Load your amalgam guns.
3. Fix bayonet condensors.
4. Distribute all Eddy knives.
5. Paint yourself with metaphen.
6. Apply rubber dam.
7. All students are to cooperate in coating all the walls of the clinic with Copalite. To facilitate this procedure, it is advisable to obtain Copalite applicators from your dealer.
8. If the temperature of the clinic at the time of the attack is between 65-70 degrees, all minute discrepancies in the floor of the clinic are to be filled with zinc phosphate cement. If the temperature is not correct, discontinue this procedure and throw all Kool-slabs in Dr. Randolph's office. (Watch out for Margie!)
9. Barricade all doors with cotton rolls.
10. All gold foil equipment is to be deposited in the vault of the Dean's office so that it may be recovered intact after the attack.
11. Any man planning to advertise is urged to confess at this time.
12. Remove all instrument cases from the senior lab.
13. Any students assigned to the Surgery Clinic are urged by the department not to break the sterile chain. Please make sure that the suction hoses are properly hung up.
14. All women and children are then to be deposited with Aronson and Blumenthal, respectively.
15. After the preceding precautions have been taken, all students are to form an inverted cone on Greene Street, where the enemy will be met by a barrage of pulp stones fired from rubber-dam sling shots.

IN THE EVENT THE DENTAL SCHOOL IS DESTROYED DURING THE ATTACK, CLASSES WILL RESUME ON SCHEDULE AT THE PSYCHIATRIC INSTITUTE IN SURROUNDINGS TO WHICH WE ARE ALL ACCUSTOMED.

Attention, All Juniors and Seniors

It has been brought to our attention that many of you are not washing your hands as often or as carefully as you should. Proper facilities have been placed for this operation at great expense to the school. In this paper, we will review the necessary procedures.

1. First wet the hands. Water can be obtained at (A) below.
2. Soap the hands thoroughly. Soap can be obtained at (B) below.
3. Dry the hands. Paper towels can be obtained at (C) below.

PEDODONTIA CLINIC	OPERATIVE CLINIC	PATHOLOGY
(B)	(A)	Third floor men's room (C)

In the rare event that you cannot find towels in the third floor men's room, the school has obtained several hot air blowers for your convenience. Two of these blowers are mechanical and can be turned on and off at will.

Class Will

We bequeath to:

Dr. Aisenberg—five pounds of birdseed.

Dr. Biddix—a mean old lady.

Dr. Dobbs—a reservoir of peppermint water.

Dr. Dorsey—twenty feet of suction hose.

Dr. Hahn—a quart of Hadacol.

Dr. McCarthy—600 tickets in the end zone.

Dr. McCrea—a private room in the Psi O house.

Dr. Nuttall—a television contract.

Dr. Oster—a lifetime membership in the S.P.C.A.

Dr. Preis—revised child labor laws so he can retire.

Dr. Randolph—102 automatic mallets and 714 Sweeney condensers.

Dr. Robinson—a table with handles.

Dr. Shay—a cure for colds.

Dr. Vanden Bosche—a dehydrated cow.

Dr. Dosh—a flying trailer.

Mrs. Ezekiel—a new picture of St. Apollonia.

Mr. Foley—Dr. Gaver's promise.

Dr. Hicks—a pocket full of holes.

Dr. Ramsey—all our difficult prosthetic cases.

Dr. Aisenberg, Jr.—an English dictionary.

Dr. Cappuccio—a pair of elevator shoes.

Dr. DeVier—a ball and chain.

Dr. Londeree—more "rare" old gold.

Dr. Ogden—a new fire engine.

Miss Cross—all our patience.

The Crystal Ball

Lights out! Quiet Please! The magic words noitneverP roF noisnetxE! The veil lifts and a picture of the future emerges from the mist.

Triple effective double X sodium fluoride has been perfected. There are no more dental ills in the world. Everywhere dentists have turned to other occupations.

Old B.C.D.S. stands deserted. Once in a while a letter of application for admission comes to the school from some place called West Virginia, but these lie unanswered in Dean ..... office.

The building is thought to be haunted. Voices echo hollowly from one empty soap dispenser to another. At the time of the dark of the moon an ethereal figure floats through the halls screaming, "They changed the name of demerol!" Sometimes all the dental engines will begin to run at one time (a phenomenon which never occurred when there were students in the school).

The only person unafraid to enter the building is an old janitor affectionately known as "Ted." He keeps the place in excellent shape by pounding gold foil into rat holes, cracks in the wall, etc. He also has the peculiar idiosyncrasies of sweeping imaginary cigarette butts out of room 37 every night and peering around the corner suddenly as though he expected to find someone loitering in the stairway between the lounge and the Greene Street entrance.

Many of the former instructors have been quite successful in other fields of endeavor. One "loquacious" periodontia instructor started out as a food checker in a restaurant but had to leave when three people waiting for meals starved to death; he is now very happily conducting a course in conversational English for a class of deaf mutes.

Two former instructors have reached draft age and are now in the army.

One of the instructors in operative dentistry has a job as a mattress tester. He had trouble sleeping under these strange circumstances until he hired a student to stand in front of him with upraised hand. As a concession to his new job he now says Ho-hum instead of Ummmm-huh.

There is a report that one of the pedodontia instructors is now a professional wrestler campaigning under the name of "The Towel," sometimes called the Choker. However, a usually reliable source brands this report as sheer nonsense.

Both of the crown and bridge instructors are now independently wealthy and need not work for a living. One of them is living off the royalties of that popular historical novel "Malpractices in Dental Schools," or "Who the Hell Told You to Do It That Way?" The other one, while hauling a trailer around a curve at 112 miles an hour, left the road and smashed into a mountain; upon digging his way out of the mountain he discovered gold and retired.

One of the prosthetics instructors is operating a very successful soda fountain—milk shakes a specialty.

A member of the student health department is writing a voluminous report on the use of silver nitrate and A.P.C.'s in relation to the subject of maintaining the health of college students.

This upheaval has had a marked effect on the dental dealers. S. S. White is now in the red. A new undertaking establishment in town is Benton, Caulk & Deeley; they said they have been taking the dentists for years and may as well finish the job.

The pre-clinical men have had less trouble than the rest of the staff in relocating. Many of them just moved over to the new psychiatric institute. One of these men has made a completely new start in life; he has become an outstanding figure in the field of logistics with his amazing treatise on free transportation called "Forward Amber" or "You Bring Your'n."

Speaking of transportation, this reporter feels he should be moving on. I am going to investigate a rumor that the old dental school is to be turned into a barber college if the facilities can possibly be expanded to accommodate a class of one hundred students.

A Word of Thanks! . . .

It is always fun to look back on bygone days and to relive the moments of happiness, of anger, and of anxiety. Many of us will be unable to return to class reunions and recapture the fleeting feelings of student days, of renewing old acquaintances, and seeing old friends; however, it is hoped that in some small way this book will help you to live again with your classmates in the quiet of your den or living room.

I am more than grateful for the spirit of cooperation and good will that prevailed throughout the preparation of this volume and I want to thank George Garrington, Bud Gilman, Dean Hausrath, Howard Reece, Carter Stone, Warren Wakai, and the host of associates for their earnest endeavor and unselfish efforts.

I want to express my sincere thanks to Mr. Foley for his untiring efforts and patient fortitude in guiding the progress of this book; to Drs. Biddix and McCarthy for their aid; to Miss Ezekiel and the Visual Aids staff for their helpful hints and aids in photography; and to Mr. Love of Advertisers' Engravers and to Mr. Penny of Brown-Morrison Company without whom this book could not have been published.

If you have as much fun in reading this edition of the MIRROR as we have had in preparing it, then our long hours of work by the midnight oil will not have been in vain.

To everyone, let me simply say, "THANKS A MILLION."

Py-co-pay brushes...

now
"duratized"
for longer life

...now supplied with Py-co-tips
for interdental stimulation

The Py-co-pay Brush—long the profession's "first choice" because of its outstanding design — is better than ever.

Those provided with natural bristles are "duratized" — Py-co-pay's special patented process for prolonging the useful life of natural bristles up to three times... protecting against "wet breakdown"... preventing sagging or matting. "Duratizing" insures amazing "flexible stiffness" that means longer brush life... better tooth cleaning during the greater period of use.

Also, every adult Py-co-pay Brush is supplied with a Py-co-tip interdental stimulator affixed to the brush handle, ready for your patients' use according to your instructions.

Thus, the name of Py-co-pay (Py-co-pay Brush, Py-co-pay Powder, Py-co-tip) continues to connote the ultimate in efficiency and safety in oral hygiene ...to merit more than ever your recommendation to your patients.

teeth

Because the forms in Trubyte Bioform Teeth are exact copies of attractive, natural teeth, and because the new blends of Trubyte New Hue Shades are so alive in appearance, you can produce dentures that are decidedly better looking; much more natural in appearance. Your first denture with Trubyte Bioform Teeth will convince you that such a splendid result was never before possible.

The Result of Recent Biological Discoveries and of Important Developments in the Manufacture of Porcelain Teeth...

NEW IN EVERY WAY

- Exact copies of attractive natural teeth
- Each size a duplication of another set of natural onteriors
- Harmonize with the outline form of the face, profile and cheek planes
- "Vacuum fired porcelain"—denser, stronger and more "olive" in appearance
- New blends in Trubyte New Hue Shades—react to all lights as do natural teeth
- The shades ore approximate reproductions of Trubyte New Hue Shades. There are slight variations in the shades of Trubyte Bioform Teeth as is characteristic of fine, natural teeth.
- New pin position—increases the retention of the tooth and adds to its strength
- The full formed linguals are comfortable to the tongue and aid phonetics

Dear Johnny,

Please express our sincerest congratulations to all the seniors just graduated and our thanks to the student body for their valuable support during the past year.

Don't fail to tell the graduates of the services that we are rendering to men faced with building a secure dental practice. Mention the fact that we know of locations in all the five states that we service and emphasize that we have our fingers on the pulse of the economic conditions of these territories. Above all, remind them of our PERSONALIZED OFFICE PLANNING DEPARTMENT, pointing out that planning is as important to the professional man as the compass is to the captain of a ship.

Remember, Johnny, it isn't the nuts and bolts that go into dental equipment that makes the difference. The big difference lies in service that can't be bought or done without. We are waiting to serve your friends.

With best personal regards to all the faculty and staff.

Yours very truly,

The Deeley Dental Supply Co.

How to attract and HOLD patients

The comments of their friends, the impressions made by you, your office, and your treatment, are the measuring sticks those who come to you for treatment will employ in estimating your skill and professional standing. Impressions are therefore very important.

Bear in mind that almost all who will come to you have been in other dental offices. Consciously or subconsciously, comparisons will be made. You can mold these in your favor:

1. By making them feel welcome.
   Your waiting room, and your receptionist, if you will have one, are aids to this end.
2. By giving careful consideration to your greeting, your operating, and your personal appearance at all times.
3. By operating in a room so obviously modern and complete that it will be certain to inspire confidence.
   In other words your equipment speaks—will help make your patients want, feel proud, to refer their friends.
   Let us help you plan an office that will provide the maximum in functional efficiency, one that will be modern, look modern, today and tomorrow.
